CALCUTTA.

BENGAL HURKARU.—Nov. 5.

In a notice in a London Paper of several new and clever caricatures, we are surprized to observe, that one of the best we have seen for a long while has escaped the attention of the critics. We allude to one entitled "The Wild Elephant between two tame ones," admirable alike in design and execution. The groupe represented consists of Duke of Wellington, Lord Ellenborough and Mr. Peel. Lord E. the wild elephant in a paroxysm of rage and alarm, is trampling upon a number of the Times, containing a farfamed Elephant letter; with one hand he is grasping his ambrosia curls, the other is clenched, and he is gnashing his teeth, and giving vent to an exclamation, cursing his folly and expressing his despair. The Duke on one hand is comforting him with the assurance that he has only been indiscreet and shall not lose his place. Mr. Peel on the other, is consoling him with the information that he has got, George Bankes, to make out an excellent case for him in the Commons. The likenesses of the three Statesmen are said to be capital, and it must be confessed that the subject is well chosen for exhibiting them in their true characters.

INDIA GAZETTE.—Nov. 5.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

It is now about a twelvemonth since the favourable feeling of Lord BENTINCK towards the press and the intelligent activity of the present Postmaster General, led to the reduction of the postage charged on newspaper. We had long advocated this measure from the conviction that it would extend their circulation, and we have reason to believe that upon the whole this expectation has been fulfilled. Even if it could be shown that the present aggregate number of subscribers to the Calcutta papers is only as great as it was before the reduction of the postage took place, we should still consider that it was not altogether inoperative, since by preventing the diminution of the number, it must have tended to neutralize the effect that had begun to be produced on their circulation arising from those measures of economy which characterize the present India administration and which have so essentially affected the resources and prospects of every branch of the public service. We believe, however that the result has been not only to counteract this tendency to a reduced circulation, but to occasion a positive encrease of the total number of subscribers to newspapers; and under the impression that from this and other causes, there is a gradually widening field of competition, WE HAVE TO ANNOUNCE TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS THAT THE PROPRIETORS OF THE INDIA GAZETTE HAVE DETERMINED TO MAKE THAT JOURNAL A DAILY PAPER. It would answer no purpose to dwell on the other cause to which we refer, but we may add that the number of English residents in India is regularly encreasing and may be confidently expected at no very distant period to receive still greater accessions—that education among the Christian population is steadily advancing—and that amongst the Natives there is a growing attachment to English literature, naturally productive of a growing interest in English institutions, in the events of English history, and in the collisions of English parties, as well as in the political movements of the other civilized nations of the world. We may further state that we have received from various quarters the assurance that this extension of the plan of the India Gazette would be acceptable to our friends and subscribers. It is possible, however, that some of those whose wishes we have not yet had the means of ascertaining, may disapprove of the change, and we have therefore to add that the India Gazette will continue to be published three times a week under the same name, in the same form and on the same terms as at present. To those subscribers, therefore, who desire no alteration in the present plan of publication, the India Gazette will still be forwarded without any modification whatever, except in so far as it may derive improvement from the arrangements primarily adopted for the daily paper.

It is with the most perfect good-will to our two daily Cotemporaries that we presume to rank ourselves with them, and without any invidious feeling of rivalry, although with the honest and avowed purpose of using every legitimate effort to to which our resources and industry are adequate in order to secure a share of the public patronage. To place the India Gazette, as a daily paper, on a secure and permanant basis, we are happy to state that the Proprietors will spare no necessary or proper expense. One of the means adopted for this purpose, is the engagement of a qualified person as a Reporter of the most important cases in the Supreme Court; and we consider ourselves fortunate in having secured the co-operation of a gentleman whose talents and acquirements peculiarly qualify him to act in that capacity. Our readers have had opportunities of forming their own judgment of his Reports from the specimens which have appeared in this paper since the commencement of the present Term; and the testimony to their perspicuity and accuracy which has been borne by a daily cotemporary, will be justly estimated by the public, proceeding as it does from one who, differing from us on almost every question of general interest, can have been led to offer it only by his conviction of their value and importance.

Very complete arrangements have been made, and are now in operation, for obtaining regular and ample supplies of news from Europe and America, and the most important settlements of Europeans in the Eastern world, so as to place and to keep the India Gazette at least on an equality in respect of fulness and earliness of intelligence with the most successful of its cotemporaries. With respect to general local details, our readers will have perceived that from sources of intelligence peculiar to ourselves we have recently been enabled to publish various articles of information of the greatest interest and importance to all the public services.

The India Gazette will be printed on good Europe paper, with three different founts of new type corresponding to the different descriptions of matter composing the paper, and with the utmost possible attention to accuracy in the correction of the press, and to legibility of impression.

The publication of the Daily Paper will begin from the 1st of December next, in order to afford Subscribers an opportunity of making their selection between it and the tri-weekly paper before the commencement of another quarter or year, according to the terms of their present subscription. It will be sent only to those subscribers who give express instruction to that effect, and the paper as at present published, will as we have already stated, continue to be sent to those from whom no such instructions are received.

The subscription for the tri-weekly paper will continue as at present viz. 13 rupees per quarter. The subscription for the daily paper will be, if taken from month to month, 8 rupees per month; and 20 rupees per quarter or 64 rupees per annum, if paid in advance. If any of the present subscribers to the India Gazette should subscribe for the daily paper in the middle of a quarter it will be charged to them for the remainder of that quarter at the rate of the tri-weekly paper. The premium on payment in advance is offered after the example of a cotemporary from the obvious facility which it affords to the transaction of business, as well as on account of the encouragement it offers to an extended circulation by lessening the expence to subscribers; but in justice to those who have hitherto patronized the India Gazette, we are bound to state that with comparatively few exceptions they are regular and prompt in their payments; and we confidently anticipate that, with a proper degree of attention on the part of our Accountant in collecting bills and bringing arrears to the timely notice of defaulters we shall continue to enjoy the confidence of our subscribers and to receive encreasingly less trouble in the settlement of their accounts.

We have said nothing of the political principles that will continue to be advocated in the India Gazette; because any extended exposition of them is unnecessary to our readers, and we believe to the public in general. If we desire to be distinguished by any one principle more than another, it is by that of an entire independence of all party influence—by the honest advocacy of every measure that appears to us likely to result in public good, and by uncompromising opposition to every measure that appears to us likely to result in public injustice, from whatever quarter the one or the other may proceed. Our views are in general opposed to the Commercial Government of the Company, to the monopolizing characters of that body, and to much of the internal policy by which it has administered the affairs of India; but as we have sometimes found reason to differ from the adversaries of the Company, so we have also willingly joined in ascribing merit to its friends where it was denied on insufficient grounds. It will always afford us pleasure, when we can aid the cause of good government, by contributing to give encreased publicity and efficiency to the enlightened views of the local authorities; and when their views are of a contrary character, we shall, if we are permitted by the temper of the times, express our sentiments with that plainness and candour which become Englishmen; but if the temper of the times is unfavorable, and the Press Law continue unaltered, we shall certainly not degrade ourselves by praising either men or measures that our heart condemns, but express dissent and seek safety in silence. In a Government like that to which British India is subject the spirit and principles of which fluctuate with the persons by whom it is administered it is impossible to say what a day may bring forth, but if at any time we cannot respect the acts of Government, we shall at least not adopt such a course as would imply that we had ceased to respect ourselves.

INDIAGAZETTE—N v. 10.

EAST INDIANS' PETITION,

To W. STURMER, ESQ.

Secretary to the East Indian Committee.

Sir,—My last letter to you was dated the 12h u'timo, and I now take the opportunity afforded by Mr. H. C. R. Wilsone's return to Calcutta, to transmit 1000 copies of the Parliamentary Debates on our Petition for distribution among our friends and supporters in India.

Nothing further has transpired in regard to our cause, but a few of our countrymen joined me in a letter of thanks to Mr. Wynn for his kind exertions in our behalf. Copies of our letter, and of his reply, are accordingly annexed, for the information of the Committee.

It may be right in me to mention that both Dr. Lushington and Mr. Hume were to have taken their full share in the Parliamentary Debates connected with our Petition; but they unfortunately arrived too late in the House to fulfil their kind intentions.

My expected examination before the Committee in the House of Commons, is all that now detains me in England; and judging from the favorable reception of our petition in Parliament, and from the very liberal feeling so generally prevalent on the subject, I feel warranted to entertain the most confident hope that our undertaking will be crowned with complete success, when the whole question of the Company's Charter comes under discussion. Our friends I am happy to say are numerous and influential, and we may now safely leave the result in their hands.

I am Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed) JOHN W. RICKETTS.

London, 3d June, 1830.

(COPIES)

London 6th May 1830,

SIR,—Deeply interested as we are in the abolition of the civil disabilities complained of in the East Indians' Petition to Parliament, which found in you so able an advocate in the House of Commons on the 4th Instant; we, the undersigned, who are now resident in London, feel that we should be culpably wanting to ourselves, if we failed to offer to you, in a collective capacity, the tribute of our warmest gratitude on the occasion.

We beg to assure you, Sir, that we attach a high value (but no higher than they deserve) to your truly honorable and praiseworthy movements in behalf of a public cause which involved the dearest interests of a numerous and increasing class of the Christian population in India, and we are fully persuaded that the heart-felt expression of our sentiments in this respect is but a slender prelude to a rich harvest of grateful feeling which still awaits you in that country.

We have the honour to be, Sir,

Your very obedient servants,

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the letter yesterday transmitted to me from yourself, If and the other gentlemen interested in the abolition of the civil disabilities complained of in the Petition presented on the 4th Instant.

You will oblige me by assuring those Gentlemen that I feel highly gratified by their approbation of the manner in which I discharged my Parliamentary duty on that occasion.

The reception which the Petition experienced from every part of the House of Commons, encourages me in a sanguine hope that the grievances complained of may shortly receive that relief which justice and policy equally require.

I have the honour, to be Sir,

Your most obdt. humble servant,

(Signed) C. W. WILLIAMS WYNN.

COMMERCIAL INTELELGENCE.—The Victorine brings intelligence of the result of the July sales of Indigo, possessing great interest to planters and to all holders of the dye at this critical period of the year. The East India Company's sales commenced on the 13th July The quantity declered was 7 466 chests, from which 412 having been withdrawn, there remained 5,855, mostly fine and good Indigo;

Digitized with financial assistance from the Government of Maharashtra on 28 June, 2017

716 Oude, all good and middling; 477 Madras, mostly ordinary and mixed! and a few chests imported from Java. On the 13th, 14th and 16th, 1,534 chests, principally Company's Export qualities were sold. A few lots of fine blue violet fetched 8s. Qualities fetching 6s. 3d and upwards to 4d under, are considered as having gone off at the rates of the preceding April sales. The middling and ordinary qualities on the other hand went higher, obtaining an advance of from 4d to 6d on the April sales, A small parcel of Madras got 3d to 4d advance, The Germans were the principle purchasers, Very little was bought for France, and the consumers seemed to be keeping back in hopes of lower prices, It was thought, however, that the prices of the remaining days' sale would not fall off, and that the market would continue steady for some time at the same rates, until accounts of the new crop should arrive. There was some activity in the Bourdeaux market, but without any improvement in prices. Saltpetre is quoted at 42 to 43 francs, Curcuma at 25 to 27; Benares Sugar at 35 to 37, Lac Dye D. T. would fetch 5 to 5, 25 francs; Black Pepper heavy, scarce, at 62 to 63 francs, middling heavy, at 58 to 60 francs, and light at 52 to 55 francs. These prices were considered likely to continue.

The [illegible]pects of the vintage were falling from bad to worse, fully confirming the anticipation formed from the news previously brought by the Nancy, Four-fifths of the crop were considered as destroyed, and it was expected that the produce of the season would not amount to one-fourth in quantity of that of the preceding year, which was itself a failure; and that in point of quality the falling off would be equally great.

No. 409 of 1830.—Major W. H. Sykes of the 17th Regiment Native Infantry is allowed a furlough to Europe for three years agreeable to the Regulations.

No. 410 of 1830.—Major General Sir Lionel Smith being relieved from his duties on the Staff of the Army of this Presidency, the Hon'ble the Governor in Council would be wanting in one of his most important duties, if he did not express in the strongest terms the sense entertained of his long and distinguished Services.

During a period of uninterrupted Service for twenty two years, Major General Sir Lionel Smith has filled high Military Commands. His various services in the field have merited and received the approbation and thanks of Government, and have obtained him well earned honors from his Sovereign. On these Services, therefore it is not necessary for Government to dwell, but it would be a dereliction of its duty and unjust to Major General Sir Lionel Smith not to express on this occasion, the sense it entertains of the incalculable value of his unremitting efforts to promote the best interests of the Government by his conduct towards natives, whether belonging to the army or inhabitants of the Provinces in which he has been employed.

Throughout the whole course of his service Major General Sir Lionel Smith has treated all classes of Natives with marked consideration and regard, The Princes and Chiefs with whom he has had intercourse have been conciliated by his conduct, while the poorest cultivators of the field and the lowest camp Followers have found in him a vigilant protector against injury or outrage. The conduct of Major General Sir Lionel Smith in this respect has been calculated from the confidence it imparted and the attachment it produced, to augment Military resources, and to advance the reputation of the British Government in India. It will be a pleasing duty of the Governor in Council to bring to the most favarable notice of his Superiors in England the various and important services of this gallant and distinguished Officer.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1ST, 1830.

The presentation of the ADDRESS from the Members of the EAST INDIAN ASSOCIATION to Sir John Malcolm, took place, on Monday last, at the Government House at Malabar Point. The Audience Hall where the Hon'ble the Governor received the Deputation, consisting of twelve Members of the Association, who were appointed to present the Address, presented a scene altogether brilliant and imposing. At the upper end stood Sir John Malcolm, with H. E. the Commander in Chief, and the members of Council immediately about his person while the rest of the Hall was occupied by the principal Civil and Military Functionaries of Government, by the Native Chieftains from the interior who have come to Bombay to take leave of the Hon'ble the Governor, and by the Native Gentlemen of this place who attended with a farewell Address from the Native Community.

Mr. W G. Graham in a brief introductory speech, stated that he and those who appeared with him, were the Bearers of an Address from the East Indian Association, containing the expression of their obligations to Sir John Malcolm, and of their thanks and acknowledgements for the warm interest taken by him in their proceedings, and the aid and support given by him to the Institution; and requested permission to have the address read by the Secretary; which being granted, Mr. F. Hutchinson read the following Address.

To
MAJOR GENERAL THE HONORABLE SIR JOHN MALCOLM,
G. C. B AND K. L. S.

HON'BLE SIR,

As Members of an Institution which has been founded under your auspices, fostered and sustained by your Philanthropy, and honored by the association with it of your distinguished name as its Patron, we should betray an insensibility which would be a reproach, were we to allow you to leave this Country without thanking you for the warm interest you have taken in its success, and the generous aid and support it has uniformly received from you since its first Establishment.

Though it is unquestionably the wisest policy in the Government of a rich and highly civilized people to content itself with providing for the security of property, leaving its subjects to pursue their own interests according to their own judgement, the Govt. of a people like that of India may often, with advantage, assume a more parental character towards its subjects.

Such has been the character of the Government over which you have presided, in the encouragement it has afforded to the Institution which we represent; That Institutions though formed with the immediate object of ameliorating the condition of a particular class, cannot but ultimately prove more extensively useful, should its endeavours in the attainment of its immediate object be successful: for such are the wise dispensations of Providence, that any portion of a community best promotes the common good of all, when it seeks by legitimate means to promote its own interests.

We cannot but believe that in the encouragement which your Government has given to the Bombay East Indian Amelioration Fund, the good that Institution has a tendency to effect generally, was kept as much in view as the benefit likely to result from it to the class in particular. Nor does this view, while it increases the obligation of the Members of the Association to a diligent discharge of their trust in any way diminish the debt of gratitude which has been imposed upon them.

We should be entering into a lengthened detail, were we to enumerate all the favors which have been conferred on the Association by your Government, but the liberal grant of the extensive building at Phoolshair in the Deccan, and the valuable Garden and lands adjoining, demands particular notice. It has enabled us under peculiarly advantageous circumstances, to form an Establishment there for instructing East Indian youth in Agriculture and the Mechanical trades. The practical knowledge and early habits of industry and frugality they will there acquire, will essentially promote their future success in the occupations for which they are intended, while they advance their own interests and those of the Class, we are sanguine in the expectation of them proving a benefit to the community in general.

But the encouragement which the Association have received from your Government is not the only favour for which they have to express their gratitude; the liberal aid which their funds have received from you, personally, as well as in consequence of your example and influence, and the honor you have done the institution in condescending to become its Patron, also demand their warmest acknowledgements.

These sentiments the Members at large feel it incumbent upon them to express; but such of them as belong to the class of East Indians feel themselves peculiarly called upon to acknowledge the deep obligations under which you have laid them, besides those conferred thro' the medium of the Institution. Rendered by circumstances a distinct and separate class, and debarred the advantages and privileges alike of Europeans as of Natives, their path has been strewed with difficulties, you have removed, by opening to the East Indians situations in the public service of greater trust and higher responsibility than any to which they were previously considered eligible. So liberal a course, while it will not fail to give a stimulus to their exertions, will also be attended with the additional benefit of weakening the prejudice with which it has been their misfortune too frequently to be viewed.

Impressed with a deep and lively sense of their obligations to you, the East Indian Members of our Association, avail themselves of this opportunity to solicit you will do them the honor to accept a Piece of Plate, with a suitable inscription thereon, which will be presented to you, on their behalf, by Messrs. James Cockburn & Co. of London; and which they hope you will receive as a token and memori[illegible] their heartfelt gratitude for the benefits you have conferred upon the class, and the disposition you have ever evinced to promote their interests and welfare.

We cannot close this address without assuring you that our humble, but zealous and diligent endeavours shall ever be directed to realize, to their fullest extent, the object of the Institution, and thereby to afford you the gratification (a gratification prized above all others by every great and good man) of contemplating the benifits and blessings diffused by your benevolence and liberality.

With sincere wishes for your safe return to your Native Country, for your health, happiness, prosperity, and the long enjoyment of your well earned honors, we beg leave, with the greatest respect, to subscribe ourselves,—

Hon'ble Sir,
your most obedient humble Servants.

(Here follow the signatures of the Members of the Association, about Seventy in number.)

To which Sir John Malcolm returned the following answer.

To
THE MEMBERS OF THE EAST INDIAN AMELIORATION ASSOCIATION.

GENTLEMEN,

I could receive no address with feelings of more sincere satisfaction than that with which you have presented me. That I am proud of being your Patron, and gratified by the feelings with which you regard my endeavours to promote your future welfare and success, is solely to be ascribed to your own conduct. Your views of your condition, and the means of it's improvement, have entirely coincided with mine. You have looked to the attainment of a high place in the mixed community of British India, through the only means by which a solid footing in society can be attained,—by virtue and knowledge.—These high qualities, when combined with habits formed in early life of frugality and industry, mus lead to that respectability and independence which will earn for your class, a rank in the vast population of India, that no Government can grant, or take away. That over which I preside, has been most anxious to give you, as individuals, and as a valuable part of its subjects every encouragement; and it has been more disposed to open to you situations in the public service, of higher trust and greater responsibility than you had before, from its observation of the moderation and good sense wi h which the East Indians at Bombay pursued their path to gradual advancement.

There is no act of the Institution which you represent that I view with such hope as the Establishment of Phoolshair. If you pursue with that zeal and judgement you have hitherto shewn, the course of Education at that colony, which is now in happy progress, you will greatly benefit the class whose best interests are in your hands, and amply repay Government for all the support it has afforded to this Establishment. I have watched it from the commencement with anxious anticipations of the good that will arise from it, and it will be a great consolation to me in that retirement which my age and long services require, to hear that this favorite plan for the promotion of your interests, and those of the public, (the two cannot be separated,) has been crowned with complete success, but it cannot fail, for the youth o this Establishment, removed as they are from all temptation, to idle and vicious courses, are brought up in a manner that combines the simple and frugal habits of Natives, with the attainments and qualities of Englishmen. Men educated at such an Establishment will possess advantages that will ensure employment, They will become the most useful of instruments in promoting improvement in every useful art of life, and be found most efficient as aids in the administration of the Provinces of this Presidency. Time, however, is required to produce such happy results. Precocious efforts to attain rapid advancement, or impatience, will injure plans which, if steadily persevered in, must effect the most beneficial changes in the condition of those of whom you are the representatives.

I shall always be proud to have my name mentioned as the first Patron of the Bombay East Indian Amelioration Fund, and in England, as in India, your institution shall have my warmest wishes and best support. With these impressions I cannot reject the piece of Plate which you desire to give me: but you will best consult my feelings, by making it of very moderate value. Let me have the gratification of viewing it not only as a memorial of your kind regard, but as a type of that economy which is beyond all other qualities, necessary to seam the attainment of the various objects of your Association.

I am,
Your most Obedt. Servant,
(Signed) JOHN MALCOLM.

Bombay, 29th Nov. 1830.

Having concluded his reply Sir John Malcolm, with much affability and kindness of manner, stept forward and shook hands with he Members composing the Deputation, who having individually bid him farewell, took leave and withdrew.

Yesterday the Members of the Bombay Branch of the Highland Society of London held their usual meeting and dinner in celebration of St. Andrew's day.

Sir John Malcolm, President of the Society and Sir Sidney Beckwith filled the Chairs.

We regret to say that the accounts of the untimely deaths of Messrs. Taylor, Bowater and Aspinall, are confirmed by the receipt of a letter addressed to this Government by Major Taylor, the Resident at Baghdad, and brother to the former Gentleman;—of the packets carried by Mr. Taylor, we believe nothing is known.

The Judgement of the Court was delivered by Lord Tenderden, as follows,

We think the proper character of the transaction was that of hostile seizure, made, if not flagrante, yet, nondum cessante bello, regard being had to the time, the place and the person, and consequently that the Municipal Court had no Jurisdiction to adjudge upon the Subject, but if any thing was done amiss, recourse could only be had to the Government for redress.—We shall therefore recommend it to His Majesty to reverse the Judgment.

GENERAL ELECTION.

NORWICH, JULY 24.

On Friday an annoucement was made by the Committee of the Blue and White (or Liberal party), that Robert Grant Esq. would arrive in Norwich the next day, to offer himself as a representative for this city. On Saturday evening, as soon as it could be with certainly ascertained that Mr. Gurney and Mr Grant were approaching the city, an immense multitude of persons collected along the Newmarket road, amounting in number to from 10,000 to 15,000 persons. The freemen of the different wards, with their various flags, were in attendance, and a number of gentlemen on horseback were in attendance to form part of the escort. The multitude began to assemble about half-past seven, and although it was half, past nine before the candidates appeared, there was no falling off in numbers. As soon as the carriage of the gentlemen drew near, a tremendous hurrah from the foremost of the spectators gave notice of its approach to those more in the rear, for the road was lined for full a mile in length. On its reaching the crowd, the horses were taken from the carriage amidst deafening cheers. The procession instantly commenced its march down St Stephen's-street, through the market, around which it passed to the White Swan Inn. The large yard appertaining to this hotel is well suited to such a purpose, being capable of containing many thousands. On this occasion it was crammed to such an extent as to preclude the possibility of the slighest motion to any individual present. The candidates, on presenting themselves, were greeted with the warmest cheers. Mr. Gurney was received, not only as a gentleman, whose political principles were highly estimated, but as having come forward at the express desire of his fellow-citizens was entitled to the most marked reception. Nor was Mr. Grant's reception less enthusiastic—less joyous. To both candidates the scene must have been one of honourable gratification. Mr. Gurney addressed the crowd in his bold, manly, and forcible manner, declaring, that having, been called forth by one of the most numerously signed requisitions ever presented, he had been induced, with reluctance, to enter again into public life, although he felt he should have been happier in private. Mr. Gurney expressed his strong feeling of the necessity for the reduction of taxation, as the most important for the relief of the people from the misery they now suffered, and of his conviction of the necessity of reform. Mr. Grant afterwards addressed the freemen at very great length, and in dignified, energetic, and eloquent terms. He spoke of the gratification the reception such a perfect stranger as himself had met with—of the public acts he had espoused; with a happy combination of modesty and pride. He stated his political tenets to consist in a wise course of retrenchment and economy; a detestation of jobs; to be favorable to the adoption of judicious and effectual measures for the practical correction of every abuse, including such as prevail in the election of the representatives of the people, in the maintenance of a liberal and tolerant system of administration at home, and an energetic and liberal policy abroad. The Hon. Gentleman's address was heard with the deepest possible silence, and had an effect almost electrical on his auditory, who cheered him repeatedly and loudly. The people shortly after dispersed.

The Orange-Purple party have not yet officially announced a candidate in conjunction with Colonel Peel; but Admiral Charles Ogle is remoured as the probable person.

OXFORD, JULY 24.

The canvassing of the different candidates for this county is going on with the greatest spirit and activity. Mr. Ashurst one of the present Members, has a very large family he has therefore deemed it advisable not to encounter the expense of a contested election and does not intend again to offer himself to the notice of the freeholders. Two new candidates have announced themselves; the first, Lord Norreys who declares from the flattering reception he has met with he is determined to keep the poll open to the last moment allowed by the law. His Lordship's friends are very sanguine of success. The second candidate is Sir George Dashwood, and he is supported by the Blenheim interest. Sir George has represented the borough of Truro in a former Parliament, and his ancestors have been Members of this county. In the year 1754, the grandfather of Sir George was a candidate for this county at which time the most spirited and expensive election Oxfordshire ever witnessed took place; indeed, to such an extent was money thrown away, that for several years it shook the fortunes of the family. Sir George expresses himself confident of success. The general opinion is that Mr. Fane one of the present Members is quite certain of his re-election and therefore that the struggle will be entirely between Lord Norreys and Sir George Duckworth. Lord Norreys is the eldest son of the Earl of Abingdon, a staunch Tory and it is said his son imbibes the same principles. A great objection is made by the opponents of his Lordship on the ground of his youth he being only twenty-two years of age, but say his friends triumphantly he can speak at all events as well as Sir George who has been in Parliament for some years but his voice was never heard within the walls of St. Stephens. Political squibs in prose and verse are issuing almost every hour from the press. Every party are firing their paper bullets but most of them fall very harmless and certainly, taken on the whole, their composition is not likely to raise the literary character of this seat of learning.

It is expected Sir Robert Inglis and Mr. Estcourt will be returned without opposition for the University although it is thought by some (and those not a few) that if Sir Robert Peel would allow himself to be put in nomination he would be successful.

Much to the disappointment of the citizens there is no probability of any opposition for the city. Mr. Hughes Hughes was invited, and, it is said, if he had accepted the invitation, his return would have been certain. That gentlemen has published an address, in which he states that he stands pledged to the freemen of Rochester, and therefore declines the honour of offering himself to the notice of the citizens of Oxford. Mr. Lockhart and Mr. Langston will, therefore, in all probability, be returned without opposition.

(From the Leeds Mercury of Saturday.)

YORKSHIRE.—We have the very high satisfaction to announce, that a most numerous and respectable meeting of the leading gentlemen of liberal principles in this country, held yesterday at York, it was resolved to call forward Lord Morpeth and Henry Brougham, Esq., "as fit and proper persons to represent the county of York in Parliament."

This decision will, we have no doubt receive the hearty approbation and zealous concurrence of the great majority of the freeholders. The two individuals thus nominated are marked out for the high honour of the representation of Yorkshire,—the one by his distinction among the gentlemen of this county in talents acquirements, public spirit, and Parliamentary character; and the other, by his preeminent station among public men of the day, by the most splendid talents devoted with unparrelleled energy and success to the advancement of the liberties and interests of his country.

Concerning Lord Morpeth there is and can be no difference of opinion among the freeholders. The meeting at York was unanimous in his favour and we are happy to say that his Lordship had previously given full authority to his friends to say that he would if called upon by the county, be ready to offer his services as their representative, on condition that he should be returned free of expence.

To Mr. Brougham there are one or two trivial objections, overbalanced by a host of the most powerful recommendations. He is beyond all question the most able, the most useful, and the most popular man in the country. This is universally admitted; and the only objections urged against him are, that he is not connected with the county, and that he is much engaged by his professional avocations. These objections were fairly stated and as fairly removed at the York meeting, and we have elsewhere given a full reply to them.

The feeling at York amongst the gentlemen from the West Riding was exceedingly strong in favour of Mr. Brougham; and in the absence of any resident gentleman of pre-eminent claims, it was felt that Mr. Brougham's merits gave him an irresistable title to the representation. We refer to the excellent speeches of Mr. Sykes, Mr. Marshal, Mr. Strickland, and of others, on the transcendant merits of the Hon. and Learned Member.

Now that the York meeting has decided in favour of Mr Brougham, we have a full confidence that the Liberals will be unanimous and zealous in his support, We therefore urge all those who are friendly to his election to bestir themselves without a single day's delay, and to forward to Mr. Brougham such assurance of their free and independent support as shall immediately decide him to accept the invitation of the county.

Canterbury.—Lord Fordwich is decidedly the popular man here. His Lordship's frank and condescending manners command the esteem even of his opponents, while to his friends they constitute only an additional one to the many claims which he has upon the good opinion of the men of Kent.

Cockermouth.—We learn that Mr. James Brougham is to be returned for Cockermouth a borough of the Earl of Lonsdale.—Morning Paper.

Lord Belgrave is actively canvassing his native county, Cheshire.

We understand that Mr. M. G. Prendergrast, late member for Gatton, succeeds to the seats for Westbury, vacated by Sir Robert Peel.

Westminister.—Sir Sydney Smith, it is stated, is to be put in nomination for Westminster; and Captain Pellew, the son of Lord Exmouth, is to be proposed as his colleague.

SECOND SHEET.] THE BOMBAY GAZETTE. [SECOND SHEET.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1830.

Middlesex.—No candidate has yet started to oppose Mr. Hume. A deputation of freeholders lately waited on Mr. Fitzclarence, with the most earnest entreaty that he would immediately offer himself as a candidate for the representation of the county of Middlesex. The gentleman composing it were received with much courtesy by Mr. Fitzclarence, who declined their invitation.

Devon.—It is clear that there will be a contest and Mr. Bastard it is said will be opposed by Lord Ebrington. The other sitting member Sir Thomas Acland has been on the alert.

Exeter.—Mr. Buller and Mr. Buck have experienced no opposition.

Grantham.—Messrs. Cust and Welby oppose Lord Huntingtower's son the Hon. Mr. Talmash.

Hereford.—The present candidates have been very successful in their canvass. Sir E. F. Scudamore Stanhope and Mr. Leys have declined becoming candidates.

Peterborough.—Lord Milton is expected to be returned.

Shaftesbury.—A son of Admiral Knowles is a candidate.

Marlow.—Colonel Clayton is engaged in an active canvass against the sitting members.

Abingdon.—Mr. Marbedy is opposed to Mr. Maitland who has been received in a very favourable manner, Mr. Maitland's election is considered pretty certain.

Wendover.—Mr. Burge, a gentleman lately arrived from the West Indies, has pledged himself to stand a poll to the last man. Another gentlemen also determines to try his strength. The present members are Mr. Sambrand M. G. Smith, London bankers.

Hampshire.—The Marquis of Douro, eldest son of the Duke of Wellington, and Mr. Alexander Baring, are likely to start for this county.

Oxfordshire.—The contest for this county is conducted with much spirit and perfect good humour on all sides. Each of the candidates has indicated a successful canvass, by which it is inferred that the struggle will be a severe one.

Oxford University.—There will be no opposition for the representation of the University in the next Parliament, and M. Estcourt and Sir Robert Inglis will succeed of course. Mr. Peel's courteous, affable, and kind manner, on meeting the Oxford Deputation at St. James's, and the evident pains he took to show the interest he still takes in the affairs of Alma Mater, would not fail of exciting comparisons not to his disadvantage, for [illegible] from his most [illegible], and the veteris vestigia [illegible] breasts of his former admirers. Mr. Bright retires, in consequence [illegible]sed, of the expense attending a contest. Mr. Edward Protheroe, jun., has been put in nomination. The Election of M. H. Davis is beyond a doubt.

Beverly.—There are no less than six candidates; Messrs. Stewart, Peters, Burton, Batley, Curr, and Wharton.

Hull.—There are five candidates for this place—namely, Messrs. Sykes, O'Neil, Lyne, Stephens, and Villiers.

Lincoln (City).—Col. Sibthorp and Mr. Tennyson are candidates. Lord Mexborough has declined.

Droitwich.—The Earl of Sefton and Mr. Foley are again candidates.

Sussex.—There will certainly be some stir and bustle at the approaching election for this county, it being, as we are credibly informed, the determination of Sir Godfrey Webster not to suffer Mr. Herbert Curteis to walk quietly over the course. There can of course be no question as to the final result. At Lewes, Seaford, Cuckfield, Arundel, and Shoreham, matters remain pretty nearly in statu quo.

Bedfordshire.—M. B. J. Littleton is again a candidate.

Lymington.—Mr. Boyd retires.

Grimsby.—Soon after the canvas of the freemen of Grimsby by Mr. Wood and Mr. Heneage, a third man appeared, in the person of George Harris, Esq., a post captain in the navy; and next day Colonel Mayne took the field as his colleague in the Red or Tory interests. A hard contest is now anticipated.

Stamford.—Mr. Tennyson has been requested to become a candidate for this borough in opposition to Lord Thomas Cecil and Colonel Chaplain, Mr. Tennyson, who is a candidate for Lincoln, has promised, if he meets with no success at that place, to stand a poll at Stamford.

Norwich.—Colonel Peel and Mr. R. Gurney are candidates. It is stated that Mr. R. Grant has joined Mr. Gurney.

Northumberland.—Mr. Liddle having withdrawn, Messrs. Bell and Beaumont will be returned.

Wigan.—We understand that an attempt will be made to open this borough and Sir John Gerrard, Bart. has been requested to stand a contest.

Cambridge (County).—Mr. Alcane, the Chairman of this county sessions, is a candidate against the present members.

Huntingdon (County).—Lord Madeville, Lord Fitzhaven, and Mr. Rooper, continue their canvass for Huntingdonshire with the greatest activity.

Newcastle.—There are four candidates for this borough, M. Borradaile, Mr. Denison, Mr. Miller, and Mr. E. Peel.

Tamworth.—Lord Charles Townshend again offers himself. Mr. Wm. Peel, as well as Sir Robert Peel, has also addressed the electors, but in a style leading to the conclusion that the latter will ultimately withdraw his claims in favor of those of his brother.

Lichfield.—Unsuccessful attempts have been made to find a candidate to oppose the Anson interests.

Boroughbridge.—Sir C. Wetherell and Mr. Matthias Attwood are said to be candidates in the Newcastle interest.

Leicester.—No opposition.

Rutland.—No opposition.

Nottingham.—By the abandonment of the town of Nottingham by Lord Ranclife and Mr. Birch, the representation has actually gone a begging. No fewer than six gentlemen have been applied to, all of whom have declined the proffered honor. Mr. Denman it is true has put forth a second address, but not in a style to please the Townsmen. After great exertion a candidate has at last been found.—Sir Ronald Fergusson is the individual.

Bassetlaw (Hundred of).—Now that the East Retford question is settled, Lord Newark has renewed the offer of services for the hundred of Bassetlaw. Grenville Venables Vernon Esq. comes forward as a second candidate,—The Sun. July 26

Memoranda.—The exchange between Lieutenant Colonel Chas. Henry Somerset, from half-pay unattached, and Colonel Clifton, of the 1st Dragoons, which took place on the 11th June 1829, is without the difference, the latter officer having repaid the sum he received on that occasion.

His Majesty has been graciously pleased to direct that the 9th Regiment of Light Dragoons, shall hereafter assume the title of the 9th (or Queen's Royal) Lancers.

Office of Ordnance, July 22.

Royal Regiment of Artillery—Second Lieutenant Henry Coope Stace to be First Lieutenant, vice Hey wood, deceased.—Glasgow Courier, July 29.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

PORTSMOUTH, JULY 24.—The Undaunted, 46, Captain Clifford, C. B., is ordered to Spithead, to take out Lieut.-General Lord Aylmer, who is appointed Captain-General and Governor-in-Chief of the British provinces in North America.

The Barham, 50, Captain Sir John Louis, Bart., sailed on Monday for the Little Nore, whither the Galatea was also ordered on Monday to proceed, both to wait for further orders. These instructions, it is supposed, are connected with his Majesty's intention to embark from this port. The Galatea sailed yesterday.

The Talbot, 28, Captain Richard Dickenson, went out of harbour on Tuesday. She will sail tomorrow for the Cape of Good Hope, touching at Plymouth, to take on board a marble monument, which is to be placed in the church at the Cape of Good Hope, to the memory of the late Commander Acland, who was lost in the sloop of-war he commanded on that station. In mentioning this, we cannot but lament that no monument has yet been placed over the remains of one who was, at last, one of the greatest of modern heroes—Napoleon Bonaparte. We learn that his place of interment is now overgrown with weeds and rank grass, and unmarked with any type to point out the tomb of him who once lorded it over Emperors.

The Clio, 18, Commander J. J. Onslow, sailed on Monday from Plymouth, for the South American station.

Rear-Admiral the Hon. Sir Charles Paget struck his flag on board the Pearl on Sunday last, and proceeded on leave of absence; he returned yesterday, when the Pearl sailed with [illegible] to resume the command at Cork.

[illegible]-corvette Concord, Captain [illegible] on Tuesday in [illegible]

[illegible] cruiser, Lieut. G. Fran[illegible], captured on the 17th inst. [illegible] George the Fourth, of Southam[illegible]n with cask, and 163 tubs of foreign [illegible]s, with the crew.

The wreck of a brig, which it was reported was scuttled by her master, at sea, was towed into this harbour by a sailing vessel yesterday; she is quite new, and hails from Guernsey; her cargo was insured as valuables, but it appears to have been coals only.

Yesterday the Stork revenue cutter, quite new, a very handsome model, was run on shore near the round tower, owing to her missing stays; she was got off at high water, without sustaining any injury.

Our much-respected Commander-in-Chief, Admiral Sir Thomas Foley, G. C. B., yesterday morning, at ten o'clock, hoisted white at the main; and Rear-Admiral the Hon. Sir Charles Paget, K. C. H. Red at the mizen; the customary salutes were fired on that occasion.

The following Captains of the Navy are passed by in the present promotion of Flag Officers:—George White, Garrett, Chesshire, Laroche, Little-hales, Sir M. Seymour, Edward Rotheram, J. M. Lewis, Charles Wolfaston, Robert Mansell, Charles Tinling, J. F. Devonshire, Richard Pe[illegible]cock, Thomas Br[illegible]ges N. Tomlinson, G. M'Kinley, and J. Katon.

PROMOTION.—Captains Skipsey, Hon. F. P. Irby, Sir C. Cole, and D. P. Bouverie, to be Colonels of Marines.—Commanders Rowland Mainwaring, J. W. Watling, R. Pridham, John Lyons, P. Westphal, B. MORN HERALD.—July 3.

The Duke of Wellington has, it is said, been solicited to stand one of his sons for the county of Hants, of which his Grace is the Lord Lieutenant.

From what occurred the other night in the House of Lords, it is thought, that should the noble Premier retain his own station, it will be, at all events, necessary to hand over the "tame elephant" to another keeper.

There is a report that, owing to the amount of its undisposable capital, the Bank has an intention of reducing the amount of its stock in paying off part of the holders by ballots.

Mr. Fellowes has declined offering himself again for the county of Huntingdon, and it is rumoured that Mr. Fellowes, jun. will be proposed in the room of his father. The names of Lord Strathaven and Lord Milton have also been mentioned as probable candidates, it being understood to be the intention of the latter Noble Lord to relinquish [illegible] honour of representing the county of [illegible]

Yesterday, Mr. D. Mahony [illegible] by an order of his Majesty's [illegible] quer, from acting as Accountant [illegible] of that Court until further orders.—Freeman's Journal of Wednesday.

Sir. Charles Monce Pole, Bart., G. C. B. is appointed Naval Aid-de-Camp to the King.

Saturday the demand for gold at our Banks might be said to have nearly ceased.—Watford Mirror of Monday.

Accounts from all parts of the country represent the injury to the hay crop as excessive, which the return of heavy rain on Thursday will, we fear, have greatly increased.

MISCELLANEA.

MONUMENT TO MR. CANNING.—We are requested to state in answer to the query of a correspondent that the money subscribed for the purpose of erecting a monument to Mr. Canning and amounting to between 10,000*l.* and 11,000*l.* has been disposed of in the following manner.—The sum of 7,000*l.* has been voted to Mr. Westmacott for the erection of a bronze colossal figure of Mr. Canning to be 12 feet high with a granite pedestal of proportionate demensions. The site chosen is the enclosed space at the north of St. Margaret's Church, opposite Palace-yard. It is expected that the work will be complete about August in the next year. The sum of 3,000*l.* has been voted to Mr. Chantrey, for the erection of a marble statue of Mr. Canning to be seven feet high, which will be placed in Westminster Abbey. Part of the sums voted respectively to these distinguished artists has been as is usual in these cases paid on the execution of their agreements. The remainder is in the hands of the trustees to be paid on the execution of the statues. Out of the surplus has been paid the necessary expenses of advertising, fine to Westminster Abbey &c.—Times.

On Monday the ceremony of laying the first stone of the new Dock and Basin at Lower Shadwell which is to form the entrance to the London Docks, was performed with the usual ceremonies. The individual selected to perform the ceremonial laying the first stone was Selem Aga, an Egyptain prince who has been for several weeks in this country. At half-past four o'clock Selem Aga arrived on the ground attended by the Secretary and Directors of the London Dock Company and a numerous assemblage of ladies and gentlemen. The necessary preparations being completed one of the Directors made a suitable address, and was followed by the Prince who spoke in broken English and the stone was then lowered into the cavity made for its reception, Selem Aga giving it three strokes with his mallet. The only inscription on the stone was "Selem Aga, 1830."
